

CORPORATE BOARD: ROLE, DUTIES and COMPOSITION

Volume 16
(special issue)/2020

Corporate Board: Role, Duties and Composition, published by Virtus Interpress, welcomes you to submit the original research articles, both theoretical and empirical, for the special COVID-issue (2020) of the journal. The principal objective of this special issue is to invoke the discussion related to multiple themes of corporate boards including director and executive remuneration, accountability, responsibilities, board composition, directors' independence, board decision making, board capital, risk management, corporate social responsibility, and others in the wake of COVID-19. The research articles incorporating relevant theoretical/conceptual narrative and rigorous empirical analysis are 'the best fit' of the special COVID-issue (2020), nonetheless, theoretical/literature review articles having testable implications are also invited.

COVID-19 pandemic has affected political permutation, global and domestic business/economy dynamics, societal dynamics and lifestyle of communities and families.

More specifically, researchers are invited to submit the research articles making significant theoretical and empirical contributions in the wake of COVID-19 in the following fields:

- corporate governance and board of directors: role, duties and composition;
- directors' remuneration and corporate governance;
- independent directors' practices;
- CEO and executive directors;
- board committees' issues;
- risk management, disclosure and corporate governance;
- critique of neoliberalism and neo-Keynesian economic models and political imperatives;
- global corporate governance and board of directors' practices;
- interactions between political governance and corporate governance;
- changing discourse of business and society;
- board behaviour and practices;
- multi-stakeholder practices including inter, and intra stakeholders' conflicts;
- interactions between political institutions and corporate leadership;
- issues related to corporate finance and the relationship with corporate boards dynamics;
- changing spectrum of investors-institutional investors, sovereign wealth funds, individual investors, and minority investors;
- corporate governance of family-owned businesses;
- governance and decision-making of state-owned enterprises;
- the role and influx of technology, board practices and decision-making;
